Free Numeracy Champion Training for those Supporting Schools / Families

Free places have been gifted for the city for short numeracy champion training up until the end of September. This include a session for school staff and those supporting families.

Nottingham is 4th worst in the country for adult numeracy and it surely has a huge impact on people's job chances and on people's ability to deal with money or financial issues. People can be champions in their workplace or in their community. And there are different short online sessions - one is specifically for school staff and those supporting families.

Please promote this opportunity. If you scroll to half way down the webpage below, you'll see the link for school staff and those supporting families. It's a great free opportunity for the city.

Health and Wellbeing Survey – Sign Up Now!

Message from Catherine Kirk (Achieve Well Team Manager):

Dear colleagues

I hope you are well.

The next round of the FREE Health and Wellbeing Survey is happening from September to mid-November. To be involved you need to register (even if you took part last year) <https://sheu.org.uk/register>

The survey is aimed at years 6 and 10 but can also be completed by other year groups. It gives invaluable data about a range of health-related behaviours, including mental health, vaping, healthy eating and physical activity. The survey can be completed on hard copy or online and all analysis is completed by the survey company SHEU. Each school receives an individual report with their own data and comparisons to City-wide data. The more schools that take part the richer this data will be. For more information see our website

Schools that are planning to work towards the Achieve Well Health and Wellbeing Awards need to complete the survey.

I encourage you to make use of this FREE survey tool as the data will be so useful for planning to meet the needs of pupils. The survey is currently funded for three years, this is the second year.

Any questions please get back to me.

Best wishes

Catherine
